ABOUT ME

I am a frontend developer with a passion for crafting delightful web experiences. With expertise in HTML5, CSS3, JavaScript and react js, I specialize in building responsive and interactive user interfaces. I'm proficient in React.js, allowing me to create dynamic and feature-rich web applications.

EXPERIENCE

Front-end Developer

Cubix Corp | June 2023 - Present

- Frontend development for a groundbreaking AI content generator project, playing a pivotal role in designing and building a dynamic web application.
- Implemented RESTful API integrations to retrieve and display AI-generated content within the application.
- Took charge of performance optimization, significantly improving the application's load time and responsiveness through code minification and lazy loading strategies
- Conducted regular code reviews, providing constructive feedback and promoting adherence to coding standards and best practices.
- Stayed updated with the latest frontend technologies and trends, actively seeking opportunities to integrate innovative features into the application.
